Baltimore, Md.

Private access

The east side of the 1000 block of S. Charles St. is improved by a variety of types of combination commercial/residential brick structures. At the northern end of the block there is a group of two and a half story, late Federal style houses built in the 1840's (1001-1011 S. Charles St.) of which 1001 has been enlarged to three stories in height with a shed roof and 1003-1007 have had bracketed cornices added to the original two and a half story form, and 1009-1011 has had a new, shed roof added to a modernized exterior. Moving towards the south one finds a group of two story plus attic, two bay wide houses (1015-1031 and 1035-1039 S. Charles St.) of which 1021-1023, 1025-1027, 1031, and 1039 have been enlarged to a full three stories in height and now have shed roofs and bracketed cornices. Finally, there is a group of three story, gable-roofed houses (1033, 1041-1059 S. Charles St.) built in the late 1840's and early 1850's. Of this latter group, however, only 1041-1043 S. Charles St. retain their original gable roof slope--the others have had false shed roof fronts, with bracketed cornices, added, or have had the original gable roof rebuilt as a shed roof and a bracketed cornice added. All of the buildings on this side of S. Charles St. currently serve a mixed commercial/residential use and a number are now in the process of being renovated and refurbished. John S. Gittings and his partners Randle Moale and Robert Purviance were responsible for the development of this side of S. Charles St. and built the majority of the houses in the northern section of the block. Henry Strube, a local carpenter, built the row of gable-roofed houses extending from 1049-1059 S. Charles St. The original house at 1061 S. Charles St. (part of Strube's row) has been replaced by a one story high, Art-Deco influenced brick building with round arched windows that extends back along Cross St. Built in the 1920's as a bank, the structure now serves as a local tavern.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story plus attic brick house with gable roof was built in the early 1850's as part of a group of such houses extending along this side of Charles St. The first floor area has been converted into a store-front.

The house is two and a half stories in height, 12 1/2' wide, and occupies a lot 80' deep. There is a two story high, six bay deep rear addition that runs almost to the end of the lot. The house is constructed in running bond. The low-pitched gable roof has a two-tier brick cornice. There is a double rectangular chimney located along the south side of the front roof gable.

The second floor window openings have splayed brick lintels; the attic story windows have no lintels. All of the windows have brick header sills. All of the window openings are filled with 1/1 double hung sash. The first floor area has been converted into a store-front of late Victorian design. A glass and panel door set beneath a single light transom is located in the northernmost bay, flanked by a two-sided plate glass shop window set on a wooden base. A deep metal cornice runs across the entire width of the store-front. It consists of an extremely deeply projecting crown molding set above a row of dentils and a freize area decorated with pressed metal swag motifs. Beneath the freize area there is a deep paneled section, and beneath that, a modern plain, flat metal sign area that extends the entire width of the facade. The entrance is reached directly from the sidewalk.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

See under 1015 S. Charles St.

This house, and the adjoining houses at 1031 S. Charles St. were built by James McPherson. The current remodeling dates from after the Civil War, when a new pressed metal store-front was added, probably in the 1880's or 1890's.
